

And our class too !

In the book,

Linus The Little Yellow Pencil,

Linus and Ernie needed to work together. The drawings you will see in our class book are examples of the students in our class working together! One person drew and the other person erased ... just a little bit!

And by our class too !