

HOW-TO: LAMP Vocab Copying and Air Dropping

It's important to share updates across devices that house a student's LAMP Words for Life communication systems. Good practice is for the team (including family) to decide to always make changes on one device and then air drop them to the other/s. This ensures we will not lose someone's important work, and the student is not frustrated by inconsistent word availability. As well, it is important to have regular back ups done. When any editing is complete— including copying and air dropping a vocabulary—please be sure to turn on any editing locks that were in place.
