

SD71 Kindergarten Literacy Assessment Teacher Guide

Kindergarten teachers identify and monitor their learners' strengths and needs to ensure continuous growth in literacy. This assessment tool focuses on critical skills that foster literacy development and is designed for classroom teachers to use throughout the year during observations of daily learning activities/routines and in conferencing with the child.

Information gathered through the tool informs instructional decisions as part of ongoing teaching and learning cycles throughout the kindergarten year. In addition, this data collection is useful to pass on to grade 1 teachers in support of student transitions in literacy learning and for the school to determine learning goals.

“The purpose of full day Kindergarten is to enhance children’s overall development — not to rush them into academics at an earlier age.”

(p.4 Full Day Kindergarten Program Guide, Ministry of Education BC)

NOTE: Please note that this assessment tool focuses on some literacy areas and does not represent a comprehensive literacy learning program. For more information about our district’s holistic approach to literacy learning, please see the SD71 Literacy Framework.

SD71 Kindergarten Literacy Assessment BACKGROUND

DISTRICT LITERACY CHECK-IN

Within the SD71 Literacy Framework, Kindergarten is the first district check-in point to monitor how our learners are doing. The district will be extracting the information gathered from the Phonological and Phonemic Awareness and Letter Identification component of the tool in the first week of May to inform decision-making regarding learning initiatives, professional learning opportunities, and resources.

END OF YEAR TARGETS (all subsets) Phonological and Phonemic Awareness
Proficient	24-30
Developing	12-23
Emerging	0-11

*This information was selected as critical for district data because these components are a vital foundation for students when they are learning to read and is a strong predictor of later literacy success. NOTE: It is important to ensure that students build a strong foundation of phonological and phonemic awareness before moving to formal phonics instruction.

BIG IDEAS

Language and story can be a source of creativity and joy.	Stories and other texts help us learn about ourselves and our families.	Stories and other texts can be shared through pictures and words.	Everyone has a unique story to share.
Through listening and speaking, we connect with others and share our world.	Playing with language helps us discover how language works.	Curiosity and wonder lead us to new discoveries about ourselves and the world around us.

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

1. Can I have my LST, or CST assess my students for me?

The kindergarten literacy assessment is designed for classroom teachers to use as part of their teaching, learning and assessment cycle.

It is important for teachers to know where their students' strengths and stretches are in key literacy skills to inform planning and to scaffold learning to meet the needs of their learners.

2. Do I have to assess students all at once?

Teachers assess at a variety of times in a variety of ways. It is recommended that teachers chunk the assessment and integrate the components into daily literacy learning routines.

3. Do I have to use this assessment if I have my own literacy assessment tools?

Note that teacher colleagues have developed this assessment based on research and collaboration with Inclusive and Indigenous Education Departments. As such, it is recommended that kindergarten teachers are familiar with the common language and understandings of this district wide tool. We appreciate that individual teachers may have preferred literacy assessment tools. A teacher can choose to follow the district provided assessment or a comparable assessment that covers the same skills and targets, however they will need to be pre-approved by District Principal of Early Learning and Child Care.

4. How is the assessment scored?

All skills are scored on correct answers. A correct answer = 1 point.

5. What do I do if my students are not demonstrating proficiency on a skill(s)?

Teaching, Learning and Assessment Cycle:

- i. Whole class teaching, and repeated experience practicing the skills*
- ii. Assess*
- iii. Targeted classroom instruction according to student needs.*
- iv. Assess*
- v. Targeted classroom instruction and/or consult with school-based team about other interventions that may be necessary*
- vi. Assess*

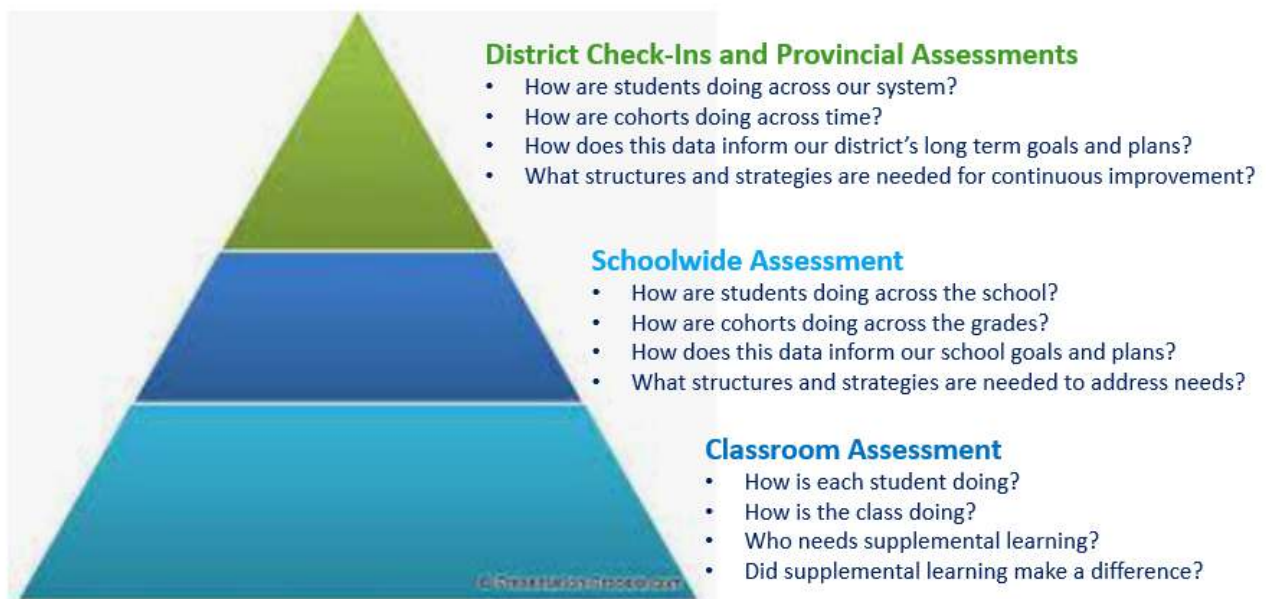

6. How will the information collected from this assessment be used?

Classroom Teachers use this information to inform instruction and monitor progress of their students' literacy skills. Additionally, this information will be helpful to pass on to grade 1 teachers.*

The School can use the data for school growth plans, allocation of resources and inform school-based team discussions and strategies.*

The District will collect the Phonological and Phonemic Awareness information at the end of the first week in May. This data will be used to inform decisions regarding resource allocation and professional learning opportunities, as well as to monitor the literacy development of student cohorts over time.*

ORAL LANGUAGE

DID YOU KNOW?

Oral Language: It is now understood that reading is a language-based skill. The development of oral language and literacy are connected. Students use their knowledge of language to read and write. Reading depends on the following oral language skills, phonology, semantics, morphology, syntax and pragmatics. Oral language is the foundation on which reading is developed, and it supports children as they

Oral Language Checklist Procedure:

1. Refer to the Oral Language Checklist on the next page and use as a guideline for observation of daily oral language.
2. When enough information has been gathered, complete the checklist for each student.
3. If there are errors in any items, pay closer attention to the student's oral language skills in that item over a concentrated period.
4. Use the results of the checklists to inform instructional practice and guide learning activities for your students.
5. Teacher have found success in completing this checklist while students are engaged in learning activities.

CONCEPTS OF PRINT

DID YOU KNOW?

Concepts of print is the understanding that print carries meaning, that books contain letters and words. Print awareness also includes an understanding of what books are used for and how a book 'works'.

Concepts of Print Instructions

1. Choose a simple emergent picture book.
2. Ask the student the following questions to confirm overall understanding:
 - "Show me the front of the book."
 - "Show me the back of the book."
 - "Show me the title."
 - "Which page do we read first?"
 - "Where does it tell the story?"
 - "Where do we start reading?"
 - "Which way do we go when we are reading?"
 - "Where do we go when we get to the end of a line?"
 - "Point to a period and ask "What is this for?"
 - "Point to a letter."
 - "Point to a word."

Record if the learner demonstrated print awareness Y/N

If the child is struggling with concepts of print, stop the assessment and finish reading the book to keep the experience positive.

Explicitly reference words, letters, sentences, punctuation, directionality (left-right, top-bottom) in big books or when you model writing.

PHONOLOGICAL & PHONEMIC AWARENESS and LETTER KNOWLEDGE

DID YOU KNOW?

Phonological awareness is the ability to notice the sound structure of spoken words (Kilpatrick, 2015). It includes recognizing words, recognizing and producing rhymes, segmenting words into syllables, and segmenting and blending onset and rime. Phonemic awareness is the ability to identify, isolate and manipulate language at the individual sound level. It is part of phonological awareness. It includes isolating, segmenting, blending and manipulating individual sounds (Honig, Diamond & Gutlohn, 2008). Letter knowledge is integral to developing phonics and decoding skill.

Phonological & Phonemic Awareness and Letter Knowledge Procedures

Before using the phonological and phonemic awareness section with individual students, demonstrate the process with your whole class.

Keep these points in mind for most subtests to ensure this assessment is completed in a timely fashion:

- A student should be able to respond within 3 seconds. If the student needs more time to give a correct response the teacher should note and monitor processing times of the student.
- If the student gets the first three items incorrect, stop administration and move on to the next task.

COMPREHENSION

DID YOU KNOW?

Retelling is a foundational reading skill. It involves identifying the important parts of the story in order, including characters, setting, problem and solution. Retelling develops sequencing skills, print concepts, descriptive vocabulary, thinking skills and visualisation techniques.

Retelling A Story

Retelling A Story

Assessing a kindergartener's ability to retell a story involves a thoughtful approach that prioritizes exposure, interaction, and ongoing practice.

Kindergarteners benefit from hearing stories multiple times, allowing them to internalize its structure and content. Through regular storytelling sessions, educators can ensure that every student has ample opportunity to familiarize themselves with the story.

Utilizing a range of resources such as sequencing cards, felt boards, puppets, and story grammar marker, loose parts, drawing and graphic organizers can greatly enhance engagement and understanding.

Assessment should be seamlessly integrated into the ongoing retelling instruction that takes place throughout the year. Rather than a one-time evaluation, the retelling assessment should be an ongoing process, woven into classroom literacy routines. This approach ensures that students have continuous opportunities to develop their retelling skills and receive timely feedback on their progress.
